Press Release Author: Marige OBrien / Tracker Mo's Den

Industry: Internet & Online

Press Release Summary: This new ebook offers a concise guide to all the basics of writing online

Press Release Body: Successful writer and online marketer Marige O'Brien (Tracker MO) has just released her second ebook, entitled "Tracker Mo's Writing For The Internet."

This 109-page ebook is a quick, yet thorough guide to business writing online, with its focus on writing techniques successful in today's internet environment. In section one, it covers basics such as GPS (Grammar, Punctuation and Spelling), editing and proofreading. But it does so entirely from the vantage point of the internet business arena, focusing on those aspects that affect business writing online the most.

Section two features general ways to improve virtually any content by focusing on those details essential to success in all formats. And section three rounds out this concept by offering specific advice for each type of online writing: web content, articles, ebooks, reports, email, advertising and blogs. Most of all, "Writing For The Internet" explains each of these things in a very readable, easy-to-understand manner.

"Writing For The Internet" is the second ebook by Marige O'Brien, a successful freelance writer and online marketer. Her first ebook, "Tracker Mo's Bootcamp" (released in June, 2007), has been called as one of the most helpful and comprehensive online tutorials available today.
