Press Release Summary: Insure4USA.com Launches Website to Provide Local Provider Comparisons

Press

Release

Body: Insure4USA.com recently announced the launch of their new online service which provides individuals with fast, free insurance quotes from their local insurance representatives. Unlike other websites that use nationwide services to fill customer insurance requests, Insure4USA.com aims to provide its users with results from insurance companies that the individual can meet with face-to-face.

The Insure4USA.com website covers most insurance types with auto insurance, life insurance, health insurance, and home insurance being at the forefront of their services. Users simply enter their zip code and fill in a short survey based on the type of insurance they are interested in purchasing.

Auto insurance quotes are available on any vehicle type and rate comparisons are provided to make sure customers receive the best rates locally. In addition, all insurance types (auto, home, life and health) provide discounts that have been established through exclusive partnership programs between Insure4USA.com and local representatives.

"Insure4USA.com aims to add a personal approach to the online insurance market," founder Alex T. stated. "Unlike other services that provide a 1-800 phone number and a website for customers to contact, we provide a local address, a local phone number and even driving directions if they are needed."

It is this personal approach that both propels and separates Insure4USA.com from its much larger and less intimate competition. The company's goal in creating the website was to provide the possible customer-centered experiences in ways that matter to its user base.

"We realized early on that it's difficult to compete with monster-sized insurance company finders that aim to provide traffic to equally monster-sized insurance companies. So, we decided that we would work for the local insurance companies, the ones whose core values remained unchanged and whose customer service and personal approaches have kept them in business for decades," Alex T. added.

In the end, it is the customer who wins, both by receiving excellent rates on insurance and by being able to invest their resources locally with insurance companies that share the common goals of success with the customer.
