Mirror Bingo is offering members the chance to speak to former Big Brother housemates as the current series passes the halfway stage.

From Thursday 2 July, former contestants of the reality TV show will be online for a live chat with Mirror Bingo players.

Membership is free with no deposit needed, and all members will be able to play bingo with the former housemates as well as ask them about the current series and their lives since appearing on the show themselves.

Each chat starts at 8pm and the first will be on 2 July as Glyn Wise and Pete Bennett, the runner up and winner, respectively, of the seventh series. Since their time on Big Brother, Glyn has gone on to DJ on C2 Radio Cymru while Pete has appeared at Glastonbury - a haven of celebrities - and toured the UK with his band Pete Bennett and the Love Dogs.

Aisleyne Horgan-Wallace, also known for her glamour modelling work, shared Glyn and Pete's rapid rise to fame through Big Brother 7. Members of Mirror Bingo will have the chance to speak to her through the bingo chat function on Friday 3 July.

The following night, Saturday 4 July, will see contestants of the eighth series Brian Belo and twins Samantha and Amanda Marchant - also known as Samanda - speak to Mirror Bingo members. Brian overcame the odds to beat Samanda to the title of Big Brother 8. Brian has since become a regular feature on Harry Hill's TV Burp while Samanda has embarked on a music career - their first single, a cover of Barbie Girl, charted at 26 before their follow up single entered the charts at 125.

With six former contestants - including two winners - Mirror Bingo members have the chance to chat to some of the people best placed to comment on the experiences of the current housemates.

Mirror Bingo members will be kept up to date with future events on the site and will be the first to know of any celebs joining bingo chat in the future.
