

New Online Tutoring Method Teaches Students Classroom Lessons Before The Lessons Are Taught In School

Released on: October 19, 2009, 7:32 am

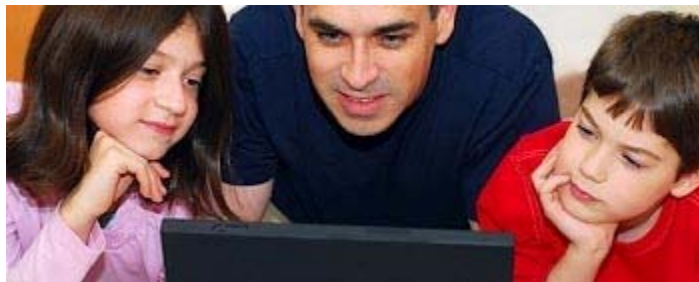

Author: Stuart Ackerman

Industry: Education

(October 19, 2009) Tutorgiant.com Offers Online Video Lessons to Students 24/7. For the First Time, Students Can Learn Math and English Classroom Lessons On Demand With Internet Access.

Tutorgiant.com presents a new format for online tutoring, The Ackerman Tutoring Method. Unlike traditional tutors, Tutorgiant.com enables students to watch classroom lessons in math and English before they receive the instruction in the classroom. Lessons can also be watched at home on the same days that the lessons are being taught in school. Also, students can watch and participate in the online lessons after the concepts have been taught and before tests.

Tutorgiant.com provides about 400 videos, 500 worksheets, and over 150 tips for learning. All worksheets are taken up in the videos so students will be able to immediately correct their work, see their mistakes, and improve their skills. Whether it is fractions, geometry, algebra, reading comprehension, writing, or grammar, students will be better prepared for classroom lessons using the Ackerman Tutoring Method.

According to Sympatico MSN technology expert, Marc Saltzman,

"Whether you're pulling your hair out over algebra or struggling with science, a unique, refreshing, and accessible new website, Tutorgiant.com, is trying to help students with on-demand instructional videos and accompanying printable worksheets. A site like Tutorgiant can really get a student up to speed...get some extra homework to help complement what kids have already received from their teacher. If you want your kids to excel in school, definitely have them check out Tutorgiant.com".

Tutorgiant.com also offers free online math and reading assessments, and free advice and tips so that parents can get an idea of their child's weaker areas before it's too late into the term. Launched by education expert, Stuart Ackerman MSc.Ed, Tutorgiant.com video lessons are all curriculum based. Mr. Ackerman has compiled curricula from North America and Europe to create all the math and English lessons that students receive in school. Members have unlimited access to all videos in every grade twenty four hours a day. The Ackerman Tutoring Method also caters to homeschoolers, students with learning disabilities, and students with different learning styles.

Founder, Stuart Ackerman states,

"The lesson is the most critical part of the learning experience. Throughout my experiences and research, I have found that when students are well prepared for the classroom lesson, their grades improve. I have designed Tutorgiant in such a way that students will understand the concepts before they receive the lesson in class, reinforce their learning while the unit is being taught in school, and effectively review the skills and concepts for tests and assignments."

About

Tutorgiant.com:

Stuart Ackerman gives educational tips on the radio, television, and in the newspapers on a regular basis. He is certified in both the United States and Canada. Stuart Ackerman has his Masters Degree in Education and has over 14 years experience teaching and tutoring all grades.

For more information contact Stuart Ackerman at:

(905) 237-3323

www.tutorgiant.com

info@tutorgiant.com

~~~~~

Press release distributed via EPR Network (<http://express-press-release.net/submit-press-release.php>)