Released on: November 9, 2009, 8:04 am

Author: Andy Deane

Industry: Education

Learn to Study the Bible (ISBN 9781607915768) by Andy Deane teaches readers forty unique and fun ways to study the Scriptures. Studying the Bible should be exciting, and with forty different Bible study methods readers will learn a variety of ways to do it. Each method has easy to follow instructions and handwritten examples to show readers what a completed Bible study should look like. Bible Study Magazine (the makers of Logos Bible Software) says that "Deane presents an image of the Bible as a treasure trove for the reader's keeping!" DR. Michael Catt, producer of the movie FIREPROOF, said "Learn to Study Your Bible is an affordable and practical book for those who want to dig deeper and get more out of their personal Bible study." If you are interested in taking your personal Bible study to a deeper level then this new book is for you.

ENDORSEMENTS:

PASTOR BOB COY (Senior Pastor of Calvary Chapel Fort Lauderdale)

"Certain things in the Christian life are non-negotiable, and studying the Bible is one of them. Every believer, regardless of the spiritual season they're in, must have a regular routine that gets them engaged in God's Word. But while the "must" to study is universal, the "method" isn't. What works well for some doesn't work at all for others. We've been wired differently and learn in different ways, which is why this is such a relevant and important book. With 40 different methods of studying the Bible, there's something here for everyone. No matter who you are or how you're wired to learn, you're going to find a key in these pages that will unlock the riches of God's Word in your life."

PASTOR BRIAN BRODERSON (Host of the Back to Basics Radio Show)

"Anything that will help Christian people get more into the word and more out of the word is bound to be a great blessing. This book will do just that. Andy has done a fantastic job of laying out numerous options for Bible Study. I'm sure there's a method here that will be helpful for most everyone who is serious about growing in the Lord through his word."
