A Secret New Social Media Marketing Website Explodes Out Of Ohio

Released on: January 20, 2010, 5:46 am
Author: http://www.SpreadTheWealthOnline.com
Industry: Internet & Online

http://www.SpreadTheWealthOnline.com today celebrated the official launch of the new social media software review web site. Expected to draw attention from social media experts around the Nation, the new venture represents the growing trend in the use of social media marketing in modern business practices. The venture will use its new site to showcase the latest technologies in viral marketing and how they can be properly implemented by businesses – large and small. The launch has people puzzled as to who, what, when, where and why they are doing this.

The group responded: "Social Media Fanatics have such an emotional connection for exploration. We want to fully embrace this and rely on an open sharing to enhance science. We hope to get the snow ball rolling and rely on the great people in the industry to morph into great new technologies, networking, and sharing"

According to the secret staff, "The social media industry has been laden with millionaire get rich quick schemes and spam since its original popularity in the early 2000's." This site hopes to provide realistic information about social media marketing and debunk some of the 'secrets' that provide wealth to an elite minority."

When asked about the reasons behind the venture, www.SpreadTheWealthOnline.com stated "The website is a compilation of various life experiences and passion about a new trending industry. We believe that This site will help small businesses compete in online marketing, entrepreneurs get their ideas out to the world, and experts discuss current technologies to further the industry of social media marketing."

Running on a matter of principal, the site hopes to attract an unprecedented number through the use of viral marketing only. At the present time, funding for the site will be a combination of donations and affiliate programs. When asked about the future viability of the company, the anonymous bloggers stated "We believe that if we do good to others, others will do good to us. We want to get our knowledge out to the world. The first 30 days are a compilation of over two years of research and a few dedicated professionals. We will be rolling out the latest technology daily in preparation for our own personal surprise - which will launch on a secret date during this period."

www.SpreadTheWealthOnline.com embodies the sense of pay it forward. Their main goal is to debunk some of the biggest social media mysteries, teach viewers how to successfully market online and provide expert product reviews of the latest industry technology. Metaphoric life motto's, favorite charity links, and humorous tid-bits are some of the other topics of interest on the site.

"We expect that SpreadTheWealthOnline.com will provide a new and different platform for people to immerse themselves in ideas and innovation in a way that is interactive and fun." Stated one of the founders. In the future the website will feature their exclusive technology genius with even more ways for users to play an active role in the collaboration and development of new ideas. Expect a surprise around every corner because one thing about this group is their spunk, creativity, drive, and daunting commitment to the industry.

About: www.SpreadTheWealthOnline.com
The venture is the world's first known attempt to use numerous social media technologies to create a fully viral campaign with complete transparency. It will provide empirical based research on the the data collected while providing a niche based community for all social media experts. This concept will have the potential to further develop future technologies and will be an exciting group to follow.

If you would like further information, please visit http://www.spreadthewealthonline.com.

At the present time, the founders wish to be termed "The Anonymous Experts". They politely request that all communication be completed through the website.

~~~~~